URBAN FOREST SURVEY RESULTS

Thank you to everyone who participated in the Town's recent Urban Forest Public Consultation. A total of 47 residents completed the survey, providing valuable feedback that will help guide the development of Strasbourg's Urban Forest Management Plan. Overall, the results showed strong community support for protecting our existing trees and growing Strasbourg's tree canopy over the long term.

Residents told us that trees are an important part of our community. Shade was identified as the greatest benefit of our urban forest by 91.5% of respondents, followed by beauty and scenery at 76.6%, and protection from winter winds at 72.3%. Residents also identified improved neighbourhood appearance, replacing trees that have been lost, and creating cooler streets and more comfortable parks as important benefits of future tree planting.

There was also strong support for growing and diversifying Strasbourg's urban forest. 83% of respondents supported or strongly supported establishing a long-term tree canopy target, with no respondents opposed. Even more significantly, 89.4% said increasing the diversity of tree species is very or extremely important.

The message from residents was clear: replace what we have lost first. When asked where future planting should be prioritized, 66% selected locations where dead or removed trees need replacement, followed by low-canopy residential streets and boulevards at 53.2%. Parks, recreation areas, Main Street, civic spaces, and community facilities were also identified as priorities.

When residents were asked what actions were most important, 76.6% chose replacing dead or removed trees, followed by maintaining mature trees and addressing safety concerns (55.3%) and planting more trees in areas with fewer trees (53.2%).

There is good news! Strasbourg's 2026 tree inventory surveyed 997 public trees representing 27 different species (see list under More Town News), and 79.3% of our public trees are currently in excellent or good condition. However, the inventory also identified a long-term challenge. Nearly 70% of Strasbourg's public trees are made up of just four species — green ash, Siberian elm, Manitoba maple, and American elm.

Having such limited species diversity makes our urban forest more vulnerable to threats such as Dutch Elm Disease and Emerald Ash Borer. Future planting will therefore focus on gradually introducing a greater variety of hardy species while continuing to protect healthy, mature trees already growing in our community.

Based on the consultation and tree inventory, the recommended approach is practical and gradual: protect our healthy mature trees, replace trees that have been lost due to disease, diversify the species we plant, improve tree care and survival, and prepare for future pests and diseases. The Town will also continue looking for grant opportunities to help fund this work — something strongly supported by residents, with 76.6% identifying provincial or federal grants as their preferred funding approach.

The Town appreciates everyone who took the time to participate. Your feedback will help shape how Strasbourg protects and grows one of our community's most valuable assets — our urban forest.

The link to the full results are below, but also can be accessed by going to the Town's website at www.townofstrasbourg.ca and clicking the public notice on the homepage.
